Reviews and previews

Congressional debate slated

Democratic primary contenders for the 21st Congressional seat held by retiring Rep. Mel Price will participate in a debate Feb. 3 at the Granite City High School auditorium, 3101 Madison Ave. Scheduled to appear are Pete Fields, Madison County auditor; Jerry Costello, chairman of the St. Clair County Board; Mike Mansfield, former chief aide to Price; and Steve Maragides, administrative law judge with the Illinois Department of Revenue.

BAC to run training center

The administrative duties of Granite City Steel's training center will be taken over by Belleville Area College. Courses at the center, once utilized for the steel company's apprenticeship program, have grown into a major offering in industrial-related and other credit courses open to the public, according to BAC officials.

Groundwater plan gets support

A massive pumping project intended to control high groundwater that causes damage to area sewers and basements has gotten the tentative support of the Granite City Council in the form of a letter of intent to participate in the project.

An odd-looking fish, equipped with three sets of upper teeth and two sets of lower teeth, was caught in a net at Horseshoe Lake by John Becker. Becker said it looked like a carp but had few bones.

Q: What do you think of the law that prohibits drinking of alcoholic beverages in municipal buildings, even at Christmas parties?

Lois Bilbre

"It (drinking) doesn't really upset me. I think that at a specific party it is OK. I wouldn't want it to be every day."

— Willow Avenue

Karen Draper

"I don't agree with letting the police have a party at the police station. I don't think City Hall should be allowed to do it, either. These people are supposed to be authorities."

— Lydia Lane

Clarence Hoffman

"If it's against the law, they shouldn't have it (party) at City Hall. They should have it somewhere else."

— Lee Avenue

NEXT WEEK: What question would you ask of the candidates running for the seat of retiring U.S. Rep. Mel Price?

To record your answer, phone 452-0222 between 5:30 p.m. and 8 a.m. daily. Leave your name, address, hometown and phone number.

Quote of the week

"It's like if you built a home that you liked, and someone came along and decided they were going to put a highway through the middle of it," said Donna Marrone, a staff member of the deficit-ridden Sheltered Care Home, Edwardsville. The Madison County Board will meet today to consider placing a tax increase referendum on the March 15 ballot to help support the home.

Tip of the hat

Personality Plus
Press-Record "Personality of the Year" recognition for 1987 went to Tammie Robertson and her son, Jason, a mother and son who have drawn international attention for their unique method of dealing with his AIDS-related complex. Mrs. Robertson, who feared her son might face difficulty from angry parents if he attended school with other children, gave her consent for Jason to be put in a classroom by himself. She will re-evaluate her decision at the end of the school year.

Fields: Vote fraud in ESL

By Dave Gosnell

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Voting fraud in East St. Louis was charged on Tuesday by Pete Fields, a 21st District congressional candidate.

Fields, Madison County auditor, was expected to hold a press conference in East St. Louis on Tuesday. He said he would charge that up to 2,000 votes may be fraudulent.

Fields is blaming one of his Democratic primary opponents, St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, for delay in a proposed "homesteading" program in East St. Louis. Fields said 1,000 derelict buildings have been taken over by St. Clair County due to non-payment of taxes.

Fields claims abandoned buildings are being used as addresses for supposed East St. Louis voters. He said he has linked vacant property with voter lists, but he did not connect county-owned property with the allegation.

Fields said he plans to give evidence to Frederick Hess, U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Illinois, for possible further investigation.

Asked prior to the press conference if he thought any specific official benefits from the alleged fraudulent votes, Fields said: "Those are the kinds of conclusions the press are going to have to draw for themselves."

"Who benefits from that kind of voting fraud? Generally it's politicians in Belleville. I think that many in East St. Louis know it and reject it."

Fields charged that up to $100,000 from outside the city is being used to finance campaign activities in East St. Louis and questioned where such money is coming from.

Voters may decide on county executive

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County voters may decide in March whether to change the structure of county government to one which places significant powers in the hands of a county executive.

The county would be the first in Illinois to adopt the county executive form of government under legislation enacted in 1985.

In Madison and most Illinois counties, voters elect representatives to a county board. The board members choose a board chairman from among their membership. The chairman presides over board meetings and performs limited executive functions.

The county executive form of government would add an executive branch to county government, headed by a county executive elected by voters at large.

A county executive would have significantly more power to shape and implement policy than a county board chairman.

Petitions filed in Circuit Court last week call for a referendum in March on adoption of the alternative system of government. Advocates of the change, including Bob Barton, Granite City, a Republican, say the county's chief executive should be accountable to the voters.

If the proposition is approved, voters would elect a county executive next November.

Chief Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill will consider the sufficiency of the petitions. He has set a hearing at 9 a.m. Thursday to hear objections that were filed against the petitions.

James Monday, Madison County director of administration, said the addition of an executive branch to county government would make it more like state and municipal governments.

The executive "has a lot more to say about what happens," Monday said. "The role of the county board member is kind of diminished."

Under the present system, committees of the board perform certain policy-making and administrative functions, but under the county executive government, those functions would diminish, Monday said.

A county executive would be elected directly by the voters to serve a four-year term. Although not a member of the county board, the executive would preside over board meetings, but vote only when necessary to break a tie.

Currently, the only county in Illinois with a county executive governmental structure is Cook County, but it is set up under special statutory provisions which affect no other county. Winnebago County voters last year defeated a proposal to adopt the county executive form of government authorized by the 1985 law. The vote was 7,768 for and 12,674 against the proposal.

Voters in neighboring St. Clair County, and in DuPage County, elect a board chairman at large, but do not have an executive form of government. St. Clair County has had at-large elections of board chairman since 1972.

In Madison County, the County Board could provide for at-large election of a chairman — without adopting the county executive form of government — but only when board districts are reappointed, the next time being in 1992.

St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello said county-wide election of a county board chairman makes the chairman directly accountable to the voters.

He said the board chairman in St. Clair County wields more power in the sense that the chairman is dependent on the voters, not board members, for election.

Two County Board members oppose referendum petitions

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — An objection filed Monday seeks invalidation of petitions that would let voters decide if they want a county executive form of government.

Madison County Board members Vasil Efthimiou, D-Granite City, and Homer Henke, R-Moro, filed the objection.

The two allege the petitions contain at least 327 signatures with incomplete addresses because no community is listed. In some cases, the abbreviation "GC" is used to indicate the city.

There shouldn't be any confusion on where the signers live since their names and addresses are listed, said Bob Barton, the Republican from Granite City who filed the petitions on Christmas Eve.

"I've sent letters out with 'GC' and had them returned with 'GC,'" Barton said.

District may join paper cooperative

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — District 9 may soon join other school districts in a cooperative effort of purchasing certain paper products.

The School Board on Wednesday voted that a resolution be drafted giving Norma Fowles, the district's financial director, authority to participate in a paper purchasing program. The resolution is expected to be introduced at the board's Jan. 7 meeting.

"In a meeting of the Mississippi Valley Association of School Business Officials held on Oct. 29, the people attending voted to solicit a cooperative bid for certain paper items," Owens wrote in a memo to Superintendent Gib Walsley and board members.

"Present at the meeting were representatives from some school districts that already have 33 participants in a cooperative covering an area from Bethalto School District to Pike Land School District," Owens wrote.

"Also present were persons participating in a Belleville Schools Cooperative that has 12 participants and other districts that are interested in participating in a larger consolidated purchasing arrangement for paper. Bids are expected to be solicited for Xerographic, duplicator

Highway murder trial delayed due to illness

EDWARDSVILLE — A delay has been granted in the trial of accused highway sniper Gene Herman Arnett.

Jury selection was slated to begin Monday, a court clerk said, but was delayed because Arnett, 29, Granite City, is suffering from hepatitis and is under confinement at the Menard Correctional Center in Chester. Arnett is at the prison because his parole was revoked, the clerk said.

Arnett was arraigned Nov. 24 in Edwardsville on two counts of first degree murder in the shotgun slaying of Todd Scrump, 21, 9 Mercer Drive. Scrump was shot in the head early Oct. 24 while driving west on Interstate 270, north of Granite City.

On Oct. 23, Arnett was arraigned in Granite City on charges of attempted murder, armed robbery and armed violence in the Nov. 19 wounding of Michael Snodgrass, 20, an attendant at the Clark Service Station, 3051 Washington Ave.

Arnett is accused of using a shotgun to shoot Snodgrass, Fairmont City, in the back during a robbery at the service station.

Arnett was released in July from Menard after serving nine years of an 11-year sentence for armed robbery.

Parton hates her TV show; makes changes

Entertainer Dolly Parton says her new TV show is a disaster. She says, "I went downhill because I let so-called Hollywood 'experts' talk me into doing things I knew in my heart were wrong."

Dolly, if I read you correctly in the National Enquirer, you have discovered something significant and I hope you have discovered it in time.

I grew up with what we now call "country music." My first job was on KVOW in Tulsa, Okla., a hundred years ago. When I wasn't reading news I was announcing Bob Wills and his Texas Playboys.

He called his a "hillbilly band" and it never tried to be anything else and it outlasted his own lifetime.

In the years since, I have watched cow-country music, convinced it had to "adapt," become so homogenized the real thing got lost.

The WLSE Barn Dance of the 1940s had the largest following of any regional radio program until it tried to "adapt" to what a network wanted — and it died.

Nashville's "Grand Old Opry" allowed itself to be mongrelized in the 1950s, sacrificing its magic.

Ralph Foster's "Ozarks Jubilee" was so phenomenally successful on KWTO in Springfield, Mo., that a network offered to expand its audience nationwide.

But within weeks the network version was including New York cabaret singers and slick production numbers that killed the program graveyard dead.

Johnny Cash wasn't given his big "network series break" until Manhattan-based producers tried to make him and June into something they weren't — and that series succumbed.

So — Hello, Dolly!

It was well-intentioned but inept PR people who had you in a bubble bath with a glass of champagne inviting your listeners to tune in. That did not appeal to "your" listeners.

They featured you flitting each week with some gorgeous Hollywood type and your fans thought you were cheating on your husband.

You wanted to invite bonafide country music guest stars and the network said no. They even had you singing such uncharacteristic numbers as "Someone to Watch Over Me."

Anyway, with your silly "variety" program headed for the ashcan, you appear to have caught on in time, and, starting in January, the Dolly Parton show will abandon the glitz in favor of your distinctive down-home flavor.

Fully for you.

Dolly, what does a newsman care? I hesitate to give you anything else to worry about right now but Manhattan-based media tend to reshape our whole country in their image — politically, socially, morally.

And you and I know grassroots Americans are not like that.

Readers: Save your money! Here is your 1988 forecast

Let's start off the new year by saving 65 cents or whatever the cost is of a check-out counter tabloid.

New Year's is the day none of us dares move until we find out whether 1988 is the year Alabama will explode or Phil the Gorilla will come back to life. We can't find those things out until we rush out and buy the latest issue of the Fattie-World-Sun-Globe-Tell All Times.

The kicker, of course, is that the fine print inside the rag mag usually comes up a teensy bit short, fact-wise, of justifying the screaming cover headlines.

Save your dough this year. Here is a set of predictions, which will be every bit as accurate, and it's free — courtesy of your Press-Record/Journal.

McNary, Schoemehl to Wed: Fred McNary of St. Louis County, rumored to be a distant cousin of Fred McMurray, has announced his betrothal to Ger-tie Schoemehl of St. Louis. The wedding ceremony will be held neither in St. Louis city nor county, but at a neutral place to be announced.

Sites under consideration include a rowboat in the middle of the Mississippi River or a hot air balloon in neutral airspace. Insiders say, with this pair, the smart money is on the hot air.

Clark, Maxwell Go Into Business Together: The feeling was that with Dal Maxwell's obvious talent for capital preservation, and with Jack Clark's insistence on good working conditions, the pair would make a can't-miss business

Martin on the Metro

By Pat Martin

Sadly, negotiations have stalled over agreement on the nature of the business and how many days Clark would have to show up for work.

Our headline, however, is accurate. Maxwell and Clark were seen walking arm-in-arm into a restaurant, which is a business. Clark was limping slightly and leaning on Maxwell, who was helping his beleaguered slugger with one hand and holding onto his wallet with the other.

St. Louis Highways to Remain Construction-Free: A little-known night spot, St. Louis Highways, has finished renovating its rumpled room and will make no repairs in 1988.

Decorated tastefully in orange cones and white and orange barrels, the rumpled room will continue to feature its real-life atmosphere. To wit: One guy playing pool and 19 others standing around watching.

You Can Win and Will Win at Lotto: It has been reported that people do win the grand prize in the Missouri Lottery. A woman from Festus is rumored to have almost bought the winning ticket one time, but she didn't have enough money on her and so the prize went unclaimed for another 6 1/2 months.

Statistically, you will win the Lotto if you buy one ticket per week and DO NOT CHANGE numbers. Within a matter of 45 or 50 centuries, those numbers will come up. Mathematically, they have to. We guarantee it. If by some strange cosmic quirk they don't, sue us. We'll all be dead by then anyway.

But to show our good faith, have your heirs save this paper and if you haven't won, our heirs will spring for a free ticket in the Intergalactic Lotto. That is, if the legislature has approved the notion of pooling lotto proceeds with other solar systems.

MSD Announces Free Sewage: In 1988! It's true. Because the voters keep turning down rate increases, the MSD board of directors has taken a drastic step. Free sewage will be given away at locations where there used to be treatment plants.

Directors point out this is an unusual opportunity. In the old days, the bank would be turned into ordinary water. Anybody can get regular water. But who, in their own sewer line, can get all the sewage they want for free?

Directors hope this last-ditch appeal will take care of sewage disposal problems caused by the closing of treatment plants, which was caused by the voters not saying Okie Dokie to the tax increase.

Astronomers witnessing birth of a star

Astronomers have long pondered how the sun, the nearest star, and the planets, including the earth, formed. An elaborate theory has been developed to explain how a star can form in our galaxy or anywhere in the universe.

The theory is based on the condensation of a huge cloud of gas and dust over a long period of time. The material will collect and eventually produce a star similar to our sun.

Astronomers, however, have been unable to see this phenomenon.

The dust in the cloud used to screen out the visible light so that events leading to star formation could not be seen. That was the situation until about 1970. Then, infrared and microwave methods of observation were developed. These wavelengths can get through the dust.

Think About It

By Prof. F. Henry Firsching

cloud because the dust essentially is transparent to the infrared and microwave radiation. Today, astronomers can see inside a gas and dust cloud.

In 1983, an infrared astronomy satellite discovered a great many infrared sources. Among these was one object about 300 light years away. It is a huge object—its diameter is about 20 times larger than the orbit of Pluto, our most distant planet.

Material is rushing outward from the body, and that is exactly what newly forming stars are expected to do. But material is also falling into the center of the object. Even though the outer regions of the object are fairly stable, the internal portions are collapsing inward. This is precisely what the theory of star formation predicts.

The object has reinforced the theory of how our sun and solar system formed.

Astronomers searched for such an object for a long time. Now that it has been found, it is being studied in detail. It appears that the object has been collapsing for about 30,000 years. In another 100,000 years, it will reach the general size of our sun.

Astronomers have filled in the "missing link" in our understanding of star formation. Finally, they are seeing the actual birth of a star.

Search for new attorney on hold

By Gary King

MADISON — The search for a replacement for the late City Attorney Lawrence Hartman hasn't begun yet, Mayor John Bellico said at the Dec. 29 meeting of the City Council.

Hartman, 50, Glen Carbon, died Dec. 19. A native of Venice, he was named to the city attorney's post on May 9, 1985, by Bellico.

"We haven't put any thought into that issue yet," Bellico said, responding to Fourth Ward Alderman Norris Horton's question about when Hartman's replacement would be named.

"We just lost Larry and out of respect we haven't made a move to replace him yet," Bellico said.

Until a successor is named, Assistant City Attorney Dave Hyla, Granite City, will serve on an interim basis.

Bellico said Hartman's replacement could be named as early as Jan. 12, the next regularly scheduled meeting of the council. He said attorneys Lance Callis and John Papa are potential candidates for Hartman's post.

"There are some cases we've got pending that Lance and John are familiar with," Bellico said. "They've kept up with some of these cases."

City officials honored Hartman with a minute of silent prayer prior to the council meeting.

Speaker set for King observance

Maya Angelou, a multi-talented author, playwright, and singer, will be the featured guest at a luncheon celebrating the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Tuesday, Jan. 12, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The theme of this year's program is "Living the Dream: Freedom and Dignity for All People."

Angelou's presentation will highlight the luncheon which begins at 11:30 a.m. in the Meridian Ballroom in the University Center. The Lincoln Concert Choir from Lincoln High School, East St. Louis, will perform.

The birthday observance will conclude with a public reception from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in Goshen Lounge in the University Center.

In the 1960s, Angelou, at the request of King, became the northern coordinator for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Angelou has received many honorary doctorates, as well as the Chubb Fellowship from Yale University.

"Random House has published four autobiographical best-sellers by Angelou, as well as four books of her poetry. Her articles have appeared in The New York Times, Redbook, and Cosmopolitan, and she was presented the Ladies Home Journal award.

"Woman of the Year in Communication," in 1976.

Angelou has made more than 150 television appearances; her renowned autobiographical accounting of her youth, "I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings," was aired as a two-hour CBS television special in 1979. Additional television credits include "Afro-American in the Arts" for PBS, for which she received the coveted Golden Eagle award.

In 1981, Angelou was appointed the first Reynolds Professor of American Studies at Wake Forest University.

The 1988 King luncheon is the sixth such annual observance held at SIUE. On Jan. 18, the university and the nation will observe the federal holiday celebrating the birth King.

Reservations for the luncheon are $8 per person and may be made by calling 692-2660 or writing Conferences and Institutes, Box 1036, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill. 62026-1036. Due to demand, tickets will be issued on a first-come, first-served basis. Past celebrations have attracted capacity audiences. Luncheon reservations will be confirmed if payment is received by Jan. 7.

Peters again leads builders

The Southern Illinois Builders Association has re-elected James D. Peters, vice president of C.D. Peters Construction Co., R & H Granite City, to serve as its (26th) president again in 1988.

Other officers elected were: Bruce Holland, president of Holland-Hinrichs Construction Inc., Belleville, as first vice president; Glenn Lindsay, vice president of L.E. Lindsay Construction Co., Granite City, as second vice president; and P.J. Keeley, president of Keeley & Sons Inc., East St. Louis, as secretary/treasurer.

Re-elected as directors for three-year terms were: Ray Veile, president of Veile Construction Co., Belleville; John Rednour, president of R & H Construction Co. Inc., DuQuoin; and Paul Schmoebelen, vice president of Mamman Construction Co., St. Louis.

Ed Rust, president of The Rust Co. Inc., Belleville, was elected as a two-year director.

Peters said, "In a short 12 years we will have arrived at the year 2000. It will be an age of new technology and rapid change."

No parking at 20th Street intersection

No-parking signs will be erected on both sides of 20th Street at its north intersection with State Street. The zone will run for a block of 20th Street.

The City Council passed a resolution at its Dec. 22 meeting to create the no-parking zone.

Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield said the no-parking signs will go up in about three weeks.

Parking in the zone could bring fines from $10 to $50 for each offense.

Petish requests change in board meeting date

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — John Petish Sr. has again requested that the District 9 School Board change the day of its meetings.

The board meetings, usually held the first and third Tuesdays at 7 p.m., are held the same time as meetings of the Granite City Town Board and City Council. Petish said at a special board meeting Dec. 30, City Council meetings immediately follow the township meeting.

"A change of date will give all people an opportunity to attend all three meetings," he said.

Petish said that the Madison School Board and City Council meet on separate nights.

"It's your obligation to take care of the people of Granite City," Petish told the board. "The people elected you to serve them."

Petish approached the board several months ago, asking that the meeting day be changed.

It's up to the board to set meeting dates and times, said Superintendent Gib Walmsley. Tuesdays are a convenient day for the meetings due to the preparation and distribution of the agenda, Walmsley said.

The City Council used to meet on a different day than the school board, he said.

"We've had our meetings on Tuesday as long as I can remember," said Board President Monroe Worthen, who has served on the board since the 1950s.

Worthen asked why the other entities couldn't change their meeting dates.

The next scheduled board meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 7, instead of Tuesday, Jan. 5. Meetings are slated to return to their normal time Jan. 19.

Christmas performance

SIXTH GRADE STUDENTS at Wilson Elementary School performed the Christmas musical "The North Pole Goes Rock and Roll" at a pre-holiday PTA meeting. The performance was under the direction of Alicia Poplichak. The students are from the classes of Donald Luddeke and Mary Rogers. The program was given for students at the school on Dec. 21.

Contribution made

Coolidge Jr. High students participate in event

GRANITE CITY — A team of 17 students from Coolidge Junior High School competed in a test of academic ability Dec. 2 in the National Knowledge Master Open, an academic competition involving hundreds of schools across the country. The local team scored 885 of 2,000 possible points, placing the team 23rd in the state of all middle schools that participated.

SIUE to offer music classes

The Office of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer several non-credit classes in music this winter. The classes include piano and guitar instruction at beginning and advanced levels. A course introducing adults to piano will be offered Wednesday from 7:15 to 8:45 p.m., beginning Jan. 13. Instruction in advanced piano is scheduled Thursday at the same time, beginning Jan. 14. Beginning guitar lessons will be offered Saturday from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m., beginning Jan. 23. Instruction in advanced guitar will be Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., beginning Jan. 23. For more information, call the SIUE Office of Continuing Education at 692-3210.

speed and accuracy. This is the second time that Coolidge has entered the competition. An academic coach, Judy Hampton, described the event as "an eye opener." "The team members realized just how challenging the questions were," she said. "However, they are ready to work harder in preparation for next year's contest."

The Knowledge Master Open was developed to provide all schools the opportunity to compete in a national academic contest, without the expense of traveling to a central site.

Results of the contest are tabulated into national, state and enrollment-sized rankings by Academic Hallmarks, the software publisher that produces the event.

PRESENTATION: From left, at a check presentation ceremony held at Sacred Heart/St. Joseph School, are the principal, Sister Angelene, Salvation Army Captain Curtiss Hartley, seventh grader Anne Hewlett, eighth grader Catherine Alexander, sixth grader Nicole Zelenka and the project's moderator, sixth grade teacher Karen Luddeke.

Community service project sponsored at school

In preparation for Confirmation, the sixth, seventh and eighth grades at Sacred Heart/St. Joseph School sponsored a community service project, collecting for the Salvation Army during December.

The campaign kickoff was a Dec. 1 all-school assembly where Capt. Curtiss Hartley spoke about the background and purpose of the Salvation Army and the Tree of Lights. The sixth grade furnished each classroom with a paper Christmas tree on which individual ornaments were placed throughout the campaign, each representing a class contribution of $1. The seventh grade class sponsored a two-week "unicorn" event for the sixth, seventh and eighth grades with proceeds going to the campaign. Eighth grades made a large Christmas tree collage for the cafeteria and ornaments for every $10 contribution from the school. The goal for the drive was set at $185 — a dollar per student. A total of $353 was collected and representatives of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades presented Hartley with a check for that amount at an all-school assembly on Monday, Dec. 21.

Colemans to appear at church tonight

The Colemans, a musical group, will be performing at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 6, at City Temple Assembly of God Church, 4731 Maryville Road.

The Colemans have a regular television program titled "Wings of the Wind" that has been aired in Kentucky, Alabama and northwest Florida. The Coleman family's ministry has allowed them to participate in crusades with C.M. Ward, Richard Roberts, Mike Murdoch, R.W. Shambach, and others.

The Rev. Gary Thomas, pastor, is inviting the public to attend.

Object City. Board members protesting petitions

Some of the addresses and names on the petitions don't exist and some of the people don't live in the county, according to the objection.

One of the signatures, Etimoff said, is G. Gordon Liddy, residing in the 4000 block of State Street. Even if there's a person living in Granite City with that name, State Street doesn't have a 4000 block, Etimoff said.

Henke and Etimoff also said some names appear to have been signed by the same person. A handwriting expert has been retained to study the signatures, Etimoff said.

"If there are forgeries in there, we will be the first to say, 'Throw them out,'" Barton said. Etimoff and Henke said some signers aren't registered county voters and some petitions may contain a certification statement signed by a person who didn't know the signatures were genuine or wasn't present during the signing. The two men allege more than half of the 627 signatures on the petition are invalid; 500 valid signatures are needed.

The objection will be heard by Madison County Chief Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill at a hearing set for 9 a.m. Thursday. O'Neill will determine the petitions' validity.

Henke and Etimoff hired Belleville attorney H. Carl Runge to represent them. Barton said he hopes to have an attorney at the hearing.

Madison County Board Chairman Nellie Hagner, D-Granite City, has said he opposes the referendum. Etimoff said he's known Hagner for 30 or 40 years.

Washington — Alton's Lock & Dam 26, slated for $79 million in improvements in the next nine months, rolled unscathed past the budget-cutting ax at year's end.

A U.S. Army Corps of Engineers official in Washington, Larry Devick, said, "Congress appropriated the amount that was in the president's budget. Dogged by worries about investment markets and automatic Gramm-Rudman spending cuts, Congress agreed on a final budget package of $600 billion, with $33.2 billion in cuts from virtually every federal program. President Reagan signed a bill that left the eight-year-old dam project intact."

About $4 million will be used to continue the engineering on a second new lock, and another $75 million will go to construction work on the 1,200-foot main lock, two miles downstream from the present lock and dam. The project, which accounts for about 300 jobs in the Metro East area, is expected to cost more than $964 million by the time it is completed, making it the largest water development project in the country.

St. Louis area Corps spokesman Clyde Wilkes said construction and design have continued steadily over the past three months, while federal agencies operated under temporary spending authority, uncertain of their final budgets.

"It's business as usual," Wilkes said. "It's a project that has had a lot of support."

voters and some petitions may contain a certification statement signed by a person who didn't know the signatures were genuine or wasn't present during the signing. The two men allege more than half of the 627 signatures on the petition are invalid; 500 valid signatures are needed.

The objection will be heard by Madison County Chief Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill at a hearing set for 9 a.m. Thursday. O'Neill will determine the petitions' validity.

Henke and Etimoff hired Belleville attorney H. Carl Runge to represent them. Barton said he hopes to have an attorney at the hearing.

School gets RIF books

GRANITE CITY — In conjunction with Children's Book Week, Nov. 16-22, each child at Marshall Elementary School received the first of three books from the Reading Is Fundamental (RIF) program sponsored by Marshall PTA.

The school sponsor is Jo Wagoner, Chapter I reading teacher. She is assisted by Irma Sanders, kindergarten teacher.

RIF books are purchased with funds raised by Marshall School children as a result of their Oct. 30 RIF Halloween costume walk. Children secured sponsors for their walk from Marshall School to The Anchorage Homes and back to the school.

"This year the sponsors contributed $515, which is approximately $200 more than last year. The school has more than met its quota," Wagoner said. "The school receives government funding for three-fourths of the cost of the books, but the school must raise one-fourth of the total cost."

RIF award certificates and prizes were given to children who secured the most sponsors.

The top three all-school winners, each of whom received $5, were Mandy Morlen, fourth grader; Salina Morlen, second grader; and Jennifer Garner, second grader.

and grade.

The top three primary winners, each of whom received a stuffed toy dog, were Matthew Yarborough, first grade; Peggy Hogue, first grade; and Holly Valente, kindergarten.

The top winners from the classrooms, who were rewarded with a special pizza party, were Holly Valente, Peggy Hogue, Erica Brawley, Salina Morlen, Joe Skinner, Joey Klug, Jennifer Garner, Mark Bradshaw, Billy Watson, Mandy Morlen, Angela Stark, Katherine Gregory, Matthew Volmar, Amy Boring, Kelly Gregory, Amanda Vaughn, April Smith and Cathleen Durbin.

"The RIF Walk on Oct. 30 was a huge success. We appreciate our generous sponsors. Thanks also go to our enterprising students, Marshall School PTA/RIF committee members, and Mrs. Wagoner and her assistant, Mrs. Sanders," said Goni Michaeloff, Marshall principal.

With a national RIF poster contest deadline of Dec. 18, Marshall School is entering several posters and will compete for prizes which include a trip to Washington, D.C., or $100 and $50 savings bonds plus a collection of books.

Assembly presented at Parkview

GRANITE CITY — Adele Moore, executive director of Treehouse Wildlife Center Inc., recently spoke to the children at Parkview Elementary School. Using two disabled wild animals, a red-tail hawk and an opossum, Moore explained the importance of wildlife in the environment, the natural history of animals, and what to do if an injured animal is found.

Treehouse Wildlife Center is a non-profit, all-volunteer organization dedicated to the preservation of native American wildlife. It is located in Brighton.

The presentation was sponsored by the Parkview PTA as part of its in-school field trip program.

GCC grad works for Busch

Jeff McClanahan's future is in good hands, his own. McClanahan, 20, Dupon, used his hands to earn a one-year aviation maintenance certificate in classes at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

He also uses his hands as a part-time mechanic in the corporate aviation division of Anheuser-Busch Cos. Inc. while studying toward a bachelor of maintenance management degree from Parks College in Cahokia.

"I've worked with my hands as long as I can remember," said McClanahan, whose father is a mechanic with TWA. "It used to be cars. Now it's planes."

McClanahan said the training at the Granite City Campus helped him get the job with the brewery. He added he had to use his brain as well as his hands in the aviation maintenance program, which is approximately 60 percent lecture and 40 percent laboratory work.

"They (Anheuser-Busch) had hired EAC students before and knew what they could expect from them. The Granite City Campus faculty taught me a lot about aviation."

Jeff McClanahan

McClanahan, a 1985 Dupon High School graduate, began his college career at the University of Illinois. After one semester and a change of major, McClanahan returned home and decided to enroll at GCC.

"It's a good place to learn and become accustomed to college. I came from a small high school and wasn't sure what was the best route for college. The Granite City Campus is more personable."

McClanahan has enlisted in Naval pilot school and plans to enter when he completes his bachelor's degree.

The community college's aviation maintenance program, housed at the Granite City Campus, 460 Maryville Road, is certified by the Federal Aviation Administration. Students may earn associate of applied science degrees in aviation maintenance.

CARLOS BRIGGS dunks over Lebanon's Steve Peters during a first-round game of the Columbia Holiday Tournament on Dec. 28. Briggs' three-pointer gave the Red Devils a 66-63 win over Gillespie in the third-place game on Dec. 30.

Some good, some bad from holiday tourneys

A frenetic week of holiday tournaments was held to two area teams and not so kind to three others.

While the Warrior boys and girls basketball teams suffered through forgettable weeks and the Venice Red Devils had to settle for third place at their tournament, there was reason to smile in the Warrior wrestling and Trojan basketball camps.

Madison: Although the Trojans started the week on a losing note, they finished up in grand style and are primed for a run at bigger and better things as the heart of the basketball season approaches.

Rich Essington didn't think he had much when the season started and who could blame him? Outside of Steve Sanders, there was hardly anyone with any varsity experience. But the Trojans were 2-2 heading into a Tuesday game at Bunker Hill. The only two losses came to highly-rated teams — Venice and Jacksonville.

They led the Red Devils for 2 1/2 quarters and were more than respectable against the Crimson. Their 74-65 loss to Jacksonville on Dec. 28 at the Collinsville/Schuicks Holiday Classic sent them into the consolation bracket and the Trojans made the best of it. Win over Granite City, Springfield Griffin and Springfield Calvary in a 24-hour span gave them the consolation title.

Gaining the consolation crown at such a prestigious tournament should earn them the respect they have been looking for. With Essington's smarts, not to mention Clarence Williams' and Jessie Leonard's three-point shots, the Trojans should get even better.

Venice: A third-place finish might be good for a lot of reasons, but the Devils were big favorites to win the Columbia Tournament.

Still, their last-second loss to Southwestern Piasa on Dec. 29 wasn't as big an upset as it might appear. The Piasa Bears were unbeaten until losing to Waterloo Gibault in the tournament title game the next night and have a good chance of going to state.

The Devils almost blew another one in the third-place game as Gillespie came back from an 18-point deficit to tie before Carlos Briggs' three-pointer at the buzzer gave Venice a 66-63 win.

Venice is 7-2 and had all week to get ready for its next test — an Illini-Gateway Conference game at East St. Louis Assumption on Friday. The Pioneers joined the league this year and should give the Devils their toughest league battle in years. A Tuesday home game with Vashon was cancelled.

Granite City boys: This wasn't supposed to be a big year for the Warriors and it looks to be turning out that way. They are 3-8 after dropping four games at Collinsville and Don Deterding will likely get a chance to look at more and more young players as the year goes on.

It doesn't figure to get easier this week as the Warriors host conference leader Belleville West on Friday and travel to Jacksonville on Saturday, so Deterding will have to fight for win No. 401.

The Warriors will host a regional this year, one that includes East St. Louis Lincoln. A first-round matchup with the Tigers could be painful.

Granite City girls: After starting bravely at 4-2, the Lady Warriors have dropped four of five, including a couple of decisive losses, at the Macoutah Tournament.

Amy Cant has supplied some good minutes on the bench, but the five starters will have to carry most of the load if John Hutchings' team is to stay around the .500 mark.

Granite City wrestling: They didn't win their tournament, but Mike Garland's grapplers can't complain about a second-place finish, especially since talented Cahokia won the event.

Todd Hutchinson and Brent Davis stayed unbeaten, and Davis even moved down a weight class, meanwhile, 112.

Garland has moved some people around in the lineup but has gotten generally good results.

Everyone knows about Granite City's tradition of sending wrestlers to state, and if the holiday tournament is any indication that tradition is in good hands once again.

NOTES: The only blemish on East St. Louis Lincoln's mark last year was a loss to Lincoln (Ill.) in the finals of the Collinsville Tournament. The Tigers went on to win state and figured to be just as strong this year.

The Raiders, meanwhile, were supposed to be down some.

But it was the same old story in the final this year, as the upstate Lincoln beat the downstate Lincoln 60-49. LaPhonso Ellis had 19 points and was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player. But his teammates didn't get him the ball often enough in the second half.

Meanwhile, the Raiders used the outside shooting of Brad Seitzer — the brother of Kansas City Royals third baseman Kevin Seitzer — to break the game open and win the tournament for the third straight year.

Raisins sweeten sack lunch with fresh and spicy variety

Ever wonder if the lunches being prepared for the family are leaving the lunchbox? Maybe it is time to look at what is in it. It should be nutritious, plus enjoyable. To do both, add a little fun to the lunchbox.

Variety is the spice of life, and it is also the way to make lunches interesting. Try varying the types of bread for sandwiches. Whole grain and raisin bread, even bagels, can help beat the lunchbox blues.

Now for the fillings. Peanut butter never tasted so good as when it is served on raisin bread in a Tutti-Frutti Peanut Butter Spread. Or prepare Waldorf Chicken Salad in a pita pocket for a pleasing combination of chicken, walnuts and chewy raisins. Both recipes blend apples and celery for crunch, and raisins for a touch of natural sweetness. Send sandwiches in easy-open sandwich bags that zip to hold almost any shape sandwich. A delicious meal packed in the morning will stay fresh and moist this way until lunch.

For a tempting yet wholesome finale to lunchtime, turn in Raisin Hermits. Raisins add sweetness, to keep added sugar to a minimum and vitamins to a maximum. Versatile raisins are a good source of potassium, fiber and iron with virtually no fat.

Raisins right from the package are ideal for convenient and nutritious snacking any time. Pack lunches with a resealable plastic bag filled with raisins for delicious out-of-hand eating.

Marinated, grilled veal chops wins points in recipe contest

A panel of food professionals chose a marinated, grilled veal chop as the grand prize winner in the American Veal Association's Favorite Veal Recipe Contest.

Royal Veal Chops, submitted by Matt Dickey, Olath, took the grand prize. A tangy marinade adds zest to the extra-thick veal chops grilled over mesquite wood chips. An accompanying papaya-based relish made this recipe stand out among the 2,000 recipes received in the contest. Dickey was awarded $1,000 for his recipe.

The second-prize winner was Pesto-Stuffed Breast of Veal submitted by Alice Vidovich, Walnut Creek, Calif. She earned $500. A wilted spinach salad with veal, pecans, peppers and avocado captured the judges' attention and earned Judy Wayne, Scottsdale, Ariz., a $300 third prize for Pecan Veal Salad with Mustard Sauce.

Recipe brochures with 11 top recipes are available free by sending a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: The Best of the Favorite Veal Recipe Contest, Box 733, Des Moines, Iowa 50303.

One-dish meal fast, easy

Even though people enjoy good food, today it seems there seldom is enough time to plan or prepare meals as desired.

The Food Marketing Institute observes that in 1986 consumers showed an increased interest in time-saving shopping techniques over the year before. For example, they shop only for items they need, and they buy in larger quantities to avoid frequent shopping trips.

A recent nationwide survey of newspaper food editors indicated that "convenience" and "quick" have become operative words for cooking. Today's savvy cooks have learned that with some practical planning and shopping and a few good — but simple and fast — recipes, it is possible to cook a delicious meal in less than 30 minutes. One technique is to combine high-quality convenience items with staple ingredients from the cupboard, refrigerator or freezer.

For example, when the clock is ticking faster than normal and everyone is hungry, try Southwestern Taco Pie, a meal-in-one with appeal for adults and the younger set as well. A delicious tender crust is made easily and quickly with refrigerated crescent rolls. It is teamed with a filling of ground beef, pre-chopped chilies, pre-shredded cheese and Mexican-style beans in a seasoned sauce.

Broiled meat, fish and poultry are among the easiest main dishes for an after-dinner cook, needing only a well-seasoned, good-tasting accompaniment to round out a meal.

I Love Eating Favorite olive oil can replace other oils in cooking, baking

By Jacqueline Lanfear
Registered dietitian
American Heart Association

The newly released American Heart Association diet has added olive oil to its "acceptable oil" category. The addition is due largely to current research that indicates a beneficial cholesterol-lowering effect from moderate use of olive oil.

Although olive oil has been around for centuries, this new information has drawn multiple questions regarding its use. What is the difference between virgin, extra-virgin and non-virgin olive oil? Can olive oil be used in baking? Can it be used as a substitute for other oils and fats in everyday cooking?

Extra virgin and virgin varieties of olive oil are only slightly processed and have the distinct flavor of olives. They are best suited for pastas, dressings, dressings and other dishes requiring a strong olive flavor. Regular, highly processed olive oil is very mildly flavored by contrast. It is best suited for food items for which a sweeter taste is required, such as in huffins, quick breads or pan-cakes.

Generally, olive oil can be substituted for other oils and fats in cooking and baking. There are a few exceptions, however. The substitution is unacceptable for pastries and crusts because the oil saturates the flour and makes the finished products dense and tough instead of light and flaky. On the other hand, it works well in batter-type recipes for cakes, cookies and yeast bread.

The American Heart Association recommends that total fat intake be reduced to make up no more than 30 percent of total calories. Vegetable oils—polyunsaturated and monounsaturated—are the best sources of these calories.

For more information regarding heart health, call the Heart Information Service at 45-HEART or from outside St. Louis 1-800-255-9019 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday to Friday. Free literature is available on most related topics.

Salad dressing is one of the areas of cooking where olive oil can be a good substitute for all or part of what is required, depending on the flavor desired.

Honey-poppy seed salad dressing

- 1 cup honey
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 1 tsp. paprika
- 2 tsp. poppy seeds
- 5 tsp. vinegar
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. grated onion, if desired
- 1 cup oil

In blender or with an electric mixer, blend together honey, dry mustard, paprika, poppy seeds, vinegar, lemon juice and onion. Gradually add oil, beating constantly until mixture thickens.

Store in covered jar in refrigerator.

Yields 2 cups. Each tablespoon provides 95 calories, 7 gm. fat, trace sodium and no cholesterol. Reprinted with permission from the "American Heart Association Cookbook," 4th edition 1984 by American Heart Association Inc.

Tomatoes prove themselves as versatile

The taste of tomatoes extends easily well into soups, salads, sauces, vegetable dishes and entrees.

Tomatoes are low in calories and high in vitamins. They are a generous source of vitamins C and A.

The more direct sunlight a tomato gets during its growth period, the more vitamin C it will contain. Ripening tomatoes on a windowsill will not improve their vitamin content and, in fact, tomatoes will lose vitamins if not stored in a cool place, preferably stem-end down.

The versatile tomato goes well with almost any meat, fish or poultry, as well as eggs and cheese. It can be seasoned in a multitude of ways. Basil, bay leaf, celery seed, chervil, chili powder, cinnamon, chives, coriander, curry, cumin, dill, ginger, marjoram, mint, mustard, oregano, parsley, rosemary, sage, tarragon and thyme are all good complements to a ripe tomato.

Coppino is a special way to enjoy that distinctive taste of tomatoes at their peak. Traditional coppino of San Francisco is more like stew than this version, which uses less seafood to keep cost and calories down.

Party host can play part of guest by using a few cooking shortcuts

*Party givers can rely on a microwave oven to help be a relaxed and successful host or hostess.

A good menu will have an assortment of hot and cold dishes, as well as a balance of cheese, meat, vegetables and seafood. Dishes that can be made ahead are a must.

*Spinach Appetizers can be prepared and frozen before cooking, making them an excellent party choice. Combine 1 medium onion, chopped, and 1/2 cup butter in a glass mixing bowl. Cook on full power 3 to 4 minutes, until the onion is tender. Drain well a thawed 10-ounce package of frozen chopped spinach, and add it to the cooked onion and butter. Stir in 1 cup herb-seasoned stuffing crumbs, 1/2 cup parmesan cheese, 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt, 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt, 1/4 teaspoon lemon thyme, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, and 3 eggs. Refrigerate this mixture about 1 hour. Shape into 1-inch balls, which then can be frozen.

At party time, 20 frozen appetizer balls can be placed on a microwave-safe serving dish and cooked on full power 5 to 6 minutes, or until set.

A Pineapple Cheese Ball also can be made ahead. It is an easy-to-make and popular hors d'oeuvre. Place one 8-ounce package cream cheese in a glass bowl and cook in the microwave one minute on a 50 percent power level to soften. Stir in one drained 8-ounce can of crushed pineapple. Fold this mixture into a ball. Roll it in chopped walnuts and dot with maraschino cherry halves. Refrigerate until serving time. Serve with assorted crackers.

Teriyaki Strips make wonderful hot sandwiches. Cut 1 pound sirloin steak in 30 to 36 thin strips; these cut more easily if the meat is partially frozen. Combine 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1/2 cup bottled teriyaki sauce, 2 tablespoons honey and 1/4 cup dry sherry. Pour this over the meat strips. Refrigerate at least one hour.

When ready to serve, place half the drained meat strips on microwave cooking rack. Cook on full power 2 to 2 1/2 minutes, until steak is cooked as desired. Repeat with remaining meat. Serve with thin slices of party rye bread or dollar rolls.

Crab Mold is served with crisp crackers and is like a cool, refreshing seafood salad. Sprinkle 1 envelope unflavored gelatin on 1/2 cup water in a glass cup. Cook on full power 45 to 60 seconds, until the gelatin is dissolved. Stir in 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1/4 teaspoon pepper sauce. Cool. Stir gelatin mixture into 1 cup of mayonnaise. Chill to unbeaten egg white consistency.

Fold in 1 teaspoon instant minced onion, 1/2 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup chopped green pepper and one drained 6-ounce can of crab meat. Turn into a 3-cup mold. Chill until firm.

GRANITE CITY JOURNAL—January 6, 1988

Wild rice stuffed cornish hens

- 4 Cornish hens (1 lb. 6 oz. each), giblets removed, livers reserved
- 2 tbs. plus 1/2 cup butter
- 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 4 green onions, chopped
- 3 oz. bulk pork sausage
- 2 1/2 cups chicken broth
- 1 cup wild rice, rinsed well
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1 cup minced parsley
- 1 tsp. dried basil, crumbled
- Salt and pepper
- 1 cup butter, melted
- Chicken Broth
- 3 tbs. flour
- 1/2 cup heavy cream

Fold wing tips under hens. Chop reserved livers. Set aside.

In large skillet, melt 2 tablespoons butter over medium heat. Sauté mushrooms and green onions until soft, about 8 minutes.

Add sausage, breaking apart. Cook until done. Remove mixture with slotted spoon. Set aside.

Reduce heat. Add livers, 1 1/2 cups chicken broth, wild rice, wine, parsley, basil. Salt and pepper to taste. Cook until all liquid is absorbed, about 40 minutes.

Remove stuffing from heat. Stir in half the reserved mushroom mixture. Cool.

Divide stuffing among hens. Tie legs together. Brush generously with melted butter. Roast 1 hour 15 minutes, or until hens test done, basting occasionally with remaining melted butter. Remove hens to serving platter to keep warm.

To make sauce, discard fat from pan juices. Pour juices into measuring cup and add enough broth to make one cup. Set aside.

Melt 1/2 cup butter in heavy saucepan. Add flour, stirring until foamy and smooth.

Whisk in heavy cream, 1/2 cup chicken broth and reserved pan juices. Add remaining mushroom mixture. Cook, stirring, until smooth and thickened. Salt and pepper, if needed.

Serve sauce over hens or separately. Hens can be served whole or split.

Makes 4 servings.

Rainbow walnut slices

- 1 cup shortening (half butter, if desired)
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 tsp. vanilla
- 3 cups sifted flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- Red and green food coloring

- 1/4 cup quartered candied red cherries
- 1 1/4 cups chopped walnuts
- 1 1/4 cup quartered candied green cherries
- 1 (1.02) square unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 2 tbs. finely chopped candied ginger

Cream together shortening, sugar, eggs and vanilla.

Resift flour with salt and baking powder. Blend into creamed mixture.

Divide dough into thirds. Turn one portion pink, using six to eight drops red food coloring, red cherries and 1/2 cup walnuts. Pack in even layers in 9-by-5 inch loaf pan lined with waxed paper. Tight seal on portion light green and mix in 1/2 cup walnuts and green cherries.

Blend melted chocolate into remaining dough and mix in remaining walnuts and ginger.

Place chocolate portion evenly over pink layer. Top with green-tinted dough. Cover pan. Chill thoroughly in freezer.

To bake, remove loaf on dough from pan. Slice thin with sharp knife. Cut slices in half.

Place cookies on lightly greased cookie sheets about 1 inch apart. Bake at 350° for 8 to 10 minutes, just until done but not browned.

Cool on racks.

Makes about 100 small cookies. Note: Dough may be wrapped in foil or plastic film and kept in freezer almost indefinitely. Slice off and bake a few cookies at a time, if desired.

Pineapple eggnog filling

- 1/4 cup cornstarch
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. nutmeg
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 3 cups dairy eggnog
- 1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple, well drained
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 teaspoon rum extract

Combine sugar, cornstarch, nutmeg and cinnamon in medium-size heavy saucepan. Gradually stir in eggnog. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to boil. Boil and stir 2 minutes.

Remove from heat. Stir in pineapple, vanilla and rum extract. Press circle of waxed paper over surface of filling to prevent drying as it cools. Chill several hours.

Use as filling for cream puffs or between slices of angel food cake. Yields 3 cups; 120 calories.

gm. protein, 5 gm. fat, 17 gm. carbohydrate per 1/4 cup.

Hot vanilla mocha

- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 tbs. instant coffee granules
- 3 cups milk
- 2 cups water
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Vanilla Whipped Cream Dollops

In medium saucepan, combine cocoa, sugar and coffee granules. Gradually stir in milk and water. Cook and stir over low heat until hot. Mix in vanilla extract.

Serve topped with Vanilla Whipped Cream Dollops.

Yields 4 to 6 portions, about 5 cups.

Vanilla Whipped Cream Dollops: In small bowl, beat 1/2 cup heavy (whipping) cream, 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla just until stiff peaks form. Using a tablespoon, drop onto foil-lined jellyroll pan. Freeze until firm, about 30 minutes. Freeze solidly frozen dollops in covered container.

Yields 20 dollops.
